The first AutoCAD software to win any awards or to be named as a Best of Year was AutoCAD LT, released in 1991. By the mid-1990s, with the debut of AutoCAD 2000, sales surpassed the 1 million mark, and by the mid-2000s, about 10 million copies of AutoCAD had been sold. In December 2009, Autodesk announced its intentions to release the next-generation version of AutoCAD, AutoCAD 2009, by 2011. The software was released in April 2010. Autodesk later announced that the 2010 release would be the final version, and that in 2011, Autodesk would release

AutoCAD AutoCAD 2012. AutoCAD 2013 was released in April 2012. AutoCAD 2014 was released in April 2013, and AutoCAD 2015 in March 2014. In March 2012, Autodesk released AutoCAD LT 2011. In November 2012, Autodesk released the iPad version of AutoCAD, AutoCAD for iOS, and in February 2013 Autodesk released AutoCAD in Web Application. In 2016, the introduction of AutoCAD Civil 3D, a model-based Civil engineering design tool, in March 2016, started an official competition between both the software companies, Autodesk and Trimble. Trimble was the winner, while Autodesk received an extension to develop a similar product before the deadline of the competition. Autodesk released AutoCAD 2018, the latest version, on June 19, 2017. The 2018 version includes new features such as additive manufacturing and cloud-based software. In 2018, the company has plans to develop AutoCAD by 2020 and AutoCAD LT by 2021. History AutoCAD was originally named the Applications Development System (ADS), or ADT after the developers "Bennett R. Adams, Al Tom, and Jerry Toman". Toman left the company in 1983 to form his own company, Tessar, which later became part of Synvista.

MADRID.- El partido anticapitalista, aplastado este domingo en las urnas, está negociando con Syriza el aupacilio que, sí o sí, quiere aplicar en las instituciones. El precio es que el PSOE les cede una parte importante de sus posiciones sobre el euro. "El secreto del triunfo de Syriza es que Europa se ha sentido herida, y el PSOE ha sido incapaz de salvarla", explica José María de Areilza, secretario general de Podemos. De ahí que, según el dirigente, "debemos entender que no vamos a estar solos en la cabeza del nuevo gobierno. Estamos conversando con los socialistas y creo que hemos llegado a un acuerdo". Para el vicesecretario general del PSOE, Alfredo Pérez Rubalcaba, ha sido "una gran victoria" que el PSOE haya obtenido que se haya cambiado el orden del gobierno y, además, que Podemos se haya quedado sin poder en el Ejecutivo. "No se puede hablar de colaboración sin haber acordado lo antes que posible" Rubalcaba, sin embargo, advierte a los nuevos líderes de Podemos de que "hay que controlar las diferencias porque se han
