Here is a touching scene from Justin and Victoria's wedding in England in 2007: As they say their vows, little Taylor Swift peeks over the top of her wedding veil to watch the proceedings. At the time, the little cutie was only 9 years old. "We were living in a little cottage up in Scotland and we were driving back after the wedding," bride Victoria Snyder tells E! News. "As we were driving through the fields we saw this little girl Taylor Swift running away from her mum and threw her arms around Justin. We were driving down the road when Taylor said, 'I want to live in this car! The only way I can live in this car is if the Doors will play.'" Funniest of all was when the only wedding present they got was a dog they named "Honey Bee." "We met Justin's parents in St. Lucia at this Caribbean wedding we went to. We didn't know them at all," Victoria says. "In England they give the parents of the bride and groom a present, but he didn't get anything! They only gave him honey bee, which he named. He loves him like a son." For more wedding fun, pick up this week's issue of PEOPLE, on newsstands Friday. Without even a fleeting moment of contemplation, the pious Trudeau chastised the Snyders for taking what is, in the most defensible of senses, a free ride on the road to eternal damnation. "She is an adult child, she is travelling with her family, and she's going to take care of the life of this automobile," he deadpanned. Alas, poor India is hardly in a position to insist that the four-wheeled vehicle we call an automobile be driven by a driver of commercial fitness. She is obliged to drive automobiles, and in her very own home. And frankly, she's not quite ready to be a responsible adult. India's home in Ontario is just three bedrooms and one bathroom. She has nine relatives staying with her. The small house isn't even the kind where she can hide her contraband cigarettes, nor is there room for a swimming pool. In fact, Ms. Trudeau was veritably fleeing from the exact kind of place where teenage India might one day contemplate accepting a ride. "No way," she said. Trudeau said, truth to tell, there was no place to park this car in her
