I grew up in a circus in the West Indies where at the time I was probably less than 3 years old, there was a big mutant spider crab, I wasn't able to call him by name but I remember the monster was about 1.5 metres long. It would mostly come down to the docks on the old Medina on Jamaica, though I'd often see him on the ocean in the western side. My parents had us living with their grandparents on the West Indies island of Hispaniola (which is now the Dominican Republic and Haiti). I'd see the animal quite a bit in the surrounding area when I'd go and stay with them. When I was a few years old I stopped seeing the spider crab but I was never able to forget about him and I've always been fascinated with mutant animals. I don't believe that anyone has encountered anything like the mutant spider crabs seen in video games that combine physical characteristics of dinosaurs, aliens, creepy-crawlies, demons, and even traditional spirits. Often times these creatures come with no explanation or they have only been seen in outer space." "While I'm not a very religious person, I am a believer that there are several powerful forces and forces that people don't know about, the Dark Forces of the universe. I believe that this species was created by the Dark Forces of the universe, I believe they were sent to the universe as a form of punishment for something the original creators of this world did." "There are many theories as to why these creatures are still alive today, some are: The author of 'the bible' was wrong, they haven't walked the Earth for several thousand
