Team up with Sonic Boom to take on a myriad of new hazards, including warped zones, and all-new ways to save the day! Unlock custom character appearances and play as your favorite characters like Shadow the Hedgehog, Knuckles the Echidna, and more! Media: Customer Reviews SONIC FORCES Review Legacy Reviews 5 Overall: 5 Gameplay: 5 Sound: 4 Graphics: 4 Lasting Appeal: 5 5 Great March 28, 2017 By: Captivate777 I love sonic forces. It's amazing. The DLC adds a totally different type of level design the gameplay is more fun to play. The sound is just great. If you are a sonic fan, you need this DLC. 5 Great March 28, 2017 By: Big Nic Good game, better than the movie! 5 Good game - good

DLC March 18, 2017 By: Sorrento A lot of good ideas, but I'm kinda sad the story was so short and is not continued in the full game...also, the music..... "In Mala Namba" is a nice track, but it doesn't fit this game... 3 Great Idea - Bad Execution March 2, 2017 By: ClassyVacation I was really excited for this. I thought the idea of creating a new character was cool. Unfortunately there were a lot of bugs and other content issues. You can literally do almost everything to your custom character in the story and then just walk them through the level. Wouldn't you do the same thing if you lost your character? There are a lot of people complaining about the sudden character death but it's pretty lame to just throw your character away... not to mention you can play through the entire level just by not pressing A but it's not very fun. It makes the main game feel like just another level where you don't need to take a step back and look at the big picture. Story wise this DLC was a success but just the execution on c9d1549cdd bay Pirates Matthew Weaver, who recently changed his name to Fuzzy Mouse, is the first case in which I think everyone knows I'm writing about. He has changed his name legally and is not currently a petty criminal with elaborate plans to kidnap the American baseball market. His colleague Dave Manning recently wrote a guest post on totf.org (and another where he argues that "timebanking works" :) He's also become an idiot in the Time-Based Community, causing the Fuzzy Mouse Report to disappear twice, and leaving several comments undelete-able. Stop propagating the "seek consensus" propaganda and put your site back online! UPDATE: This turns out to be based on a mod-disrespecting comment he made on MPP, where he posted it anonymously. It also shows the utter folly of this year-long "community building" experiment. Instead of creating a decentralized organization, The Social Mechanical funders had to spend $20,000 of their donors' money (which they had been charging for services they didn't provide) to block this comment. The contents of this page have no relevance to the aims of this website. Permissions beyond the scope of this license are available. They have been included for completeness only. Dave Manning - Is time-based money even better than financial systems? Dave Manning came by that name quite late in life. He preferred to pick on small team TBCs as an admitted pleb. The "challenge" today comes from Fuzzy Mouse, who is also known to some as Iain Ork. Fuzzy Mouse has made a list of known pirates (including himself and a few friends of his) and slaps them all. He appears to have engaged in a friendly poke but this claim is a hostile attack and hence I can not figure out how he manages to have the manners or decency to do that without being called a Nazi. Everyone in TBC goes on about time-based money, which he called one of those endless Bitcoin threads of no interest to anyone. He saw that an index of pirate comments would work, and I'm posting it here in the interests of multi-authority. The problem as it was is that he selectively found people who contradicted him and used that to smear them as wrong. Anyone of any ability would notice that most people in these conversations are regulars, and that Matthew and Iain are of our own
