Read more So last night I had an amazing aventure with my friend to a fantasy world. My favorite kind! I love them! So far my favorites are Dragon Age 2, Ultima Online and Final Fantasy 6. For this one, I am not very familiar with it. I know the basic story through google but all I saw in the intial box and website were characters in cloths, and no weapons. I kind of turned down my interest in it. However, I read this and thought "Hey, there is a great fantasy world inside this game!". I think a lot of people would be like me but if you know how to fix a system that's for sure. There's so much to do in this fantasy world like create your own character, create your own castle, go adventuring, attend tournaments, make friends, craft items...and there is a crafter's dungeon inside the game where you can find all the crafting weapons, armor and magical spells you need in order to craft them your own way and sell them to NPCs in the game world, or even sell them through the in-game store. I am sure most people will say "yea, but how do you fight in this game?". Well, it is a fantasy world, the main character is a elf (with no animations for the most part) and it looks like you are given a sword and bow. The bow has a ranged attack, a slash attack, and there's like a square button to switch between different attack types. The sword has various types of attacks to choose from. I think with a bit of practice you can get in the swing of it. As far as setting your own difficulty, I don't really know, but I think you set your difficulty to easy, medium, or hard. I think you set the difficulty with an option within the options menu. As far as in game help goes, I am not sure about that, because I pretty much just walked around on my own. I took on the first boss I saw, which wasn't very hard, then I crafted some items in my town, and then I went on my way. While browsing the menus you can see that there is a world map available. You can't see what it looks like because it was under my eyes and the screen got all glitchy after. I don't think I tried any of the dungeons that I saw so I am not sure what the level cap is like. I'm sure I'm not the only bff6bb2d33
